Celebrating Neurodiversity

Following on from Neurodiversity Celebration Week, one of our occupational therapists, Mafrooha, has been reflecting on her own journey working with neurodivergent children. She says that the children she works with have taught her powerful lessons about communication, connection, belonging, and the beauty of individuality. Mafrooha has shared more of her thoughts in a moving blog post for you to read.

Have you got your exclusive Neurodiverg-Ant buddy merchandise yet? We have limited stock available of the hoodie (in both adult and kid's sizes) and pin. The Neurodiverg-Ant was designed by the talented Annelise from Emotional Support Buddy, a local neurodivergent creator. Pictured modelling the jacket is journalist

Jo Abi, who is neurodivergent herself and mum to three neurodivergent children. Jo says the Neurodiverg-Ant is "the perfect representation of our rich, colourful, difficult lives during which we collect exactly the right people and strategies to create amazing lives." Check out her blog post!

Parent Workshop

We hosted our first annual School Options Workshop last month for parents and carers of children with additional support needs. We heard from five local schools and the Department of Education about the ways in which our children can be supported when they start school and throughout their schooling years. Thank you to all who attended—we look forward to hosting another School Options Workshop in 2026!

Professional Workshop

It was our absolute pleasure to once again host Em Mainey, AKA NeuroWild, presenting a professional development workshop to a sell-out audience last month. One of our speech therapists, Chelsea, has written a blog about the experience: "The NeuroWild workshop provided invaluable insights into how we can develop spaces that are truly welcoming and supportive, allowing everyone to thrive."

SibWorks Program

Disability impacts the whole family.

SibWorks is a peer support program for children aged 8-12, who have a brother or sister with disability or neurodivergent needs. The program is designed to support siblings by building their emotional wellbeing and resilience and connecting with others who share the same experience. Funded by the CommBank Staff Foundation, we are excited to be running the program again in the July school holidays.

In the community

Cheer Energy has commenced a recreational cheerleading class for all abilities on a Saturday morning in a fun and inclusive environment. You can book into a free trial class to start with.

We had such a great time at the Mayor's Easter Egg Hunt on Sunday at Bella Vista Farm! We were there with our Sensory Breakout Space and welcomed many children (including some familiar faces!) who wanted to take some time out.

There'll be a guided basketball session, refreshments, a certificate and free drink bottle, the opportunity to connect with others, plus you can chat to experienced parent peer facilitators from Belongside about local supports available to your family.

We've had a great response to our FREE communication screeners this term that we'll be running them again in Term 2! These screening sessions are for children who will be starting kindergarten in 2026 or later. They take about 30 minutes and are designed to help with early detection of any specific communication difficulties.
